

Buechel Stone Products Featured in 3D Design Software

“Punch!” is the name of a line of software applications that allows users to build a 3D model of a home. During the design phase, users can select a variety of building and landscape materials. Buechel Stone has more than 50 natural stone products to choose from within the program for interior and exterior applications.

Punch! software can be purchased from their website or at Staples, Office Max, Best Buy, Target, and a variety of other retail outlets. To find Buechel Stone, make sure to look for new Punch! applications coming out that feature name brand products.
